

Worcester Art Museum

Catalogue of
An Exhibition of Paintings by the
Taos Society of Artists

December third to December thirty-first Nineteen hundred and twenty-two

WORCESTER ART MUSEUM

CATALOGUE OF AN EXHIBITION OF PAINTINGS

BY THE TAOS SOCIETY OF ARTISTS

*DECEMBER THIRD TO DECEMBER
THIRTY-FIRST—NINETEEN HUNDRED TWENTY-TWO*

FOREWORD

About twenty years ago two young New York artists who were travelling through the West in a wagon, came upon the adobe town of Taos. The primitive people of this region were harvesting their crops by sunlight and moonlight. Brown people they were, both Mexicans and Indians, living in a garden spot protected by mountains—the “Blood of Christ” mountains, the Spanish priests named them.

The two artists found so much to respect and admire, and were so moved by the sights and life of this beautiful valley, that they decided they had wandered far enough, and here was work for a lifetime. Thus began the Taos art colony, now so well known in the United States. Artists from all parts of the country make New Mexico their summer working ground, and since the war their number has increased. Two years ago the Taos Society of Artists was formed and its exhibitions are in great demand; in fact, the society cannot produce enough paintings to satisfy all the requests for exhibitions.

CATALOGUE of PAINTINGS

O. E. BERNINGHAUS

- 1 Taos Pueblo
- 2 The Cotton Woods
- 3 A Water Trough

E. L. BLUMENSCHHEIN

- 4 New Mexico
- 5 Ranchos Church

E. IRVING COUSE

- 6 The Rain God Maker
- 7 Moonlight
- 8 Fire Light

ALBERT L. GROLL

- 9 Sunset on the Desert
- 10 Arizona

VICTOR HIGGINS

- 11 A New Mexico Cavalry
- 12 Winter Sunlight
- 13 Taos from a Hilltop

B. J. O. NORDFELDT

- 14 La Loma-Santa Fe
- 15 Three Houses
- 16 Galisteo Street, Santa Fe

BERT G. PHILLIPS

- 17 Springtime
- 18 Indian and Pony

BIRGER SANDZEN

- 19 Cedars
- 20 In the Mountains
- 21 Sun Flowers

J. HENRY SHARP

- 22 The Hacienda, Taos
- 23 Sand, Sage and Cedar
- 24 An Insurgent

WALTER UFER

- 25 By the Window
- 26 Mary Carlisle of Oklahoma
- 27 Toward the End of Winter

